County Board of Election.

Governor Murphy on Monday announced the appointment of county election officers. The appointments in Essex County are: Noah Guter of Newark and Samuel C. Martin of Belleville, Republicans; Leonard Kalisch of Newark and Edward Hart of East Orange, Democrats. Mr. Hart is a new appointee to the County Board, and succeeds Edwin A. Rayner.

The Essex Board met on Tuesday for organization. In the absence of Leonard Kalisch, who is in Europe, it devolved upon Mr. Hart to look after the Democratic party's interests in the work of organization. The situation was an embarrassing one for a new member, but Mr. Hart pulled through in a manner that excited the admiration of the Democrats. By virtue of being the oldest member of the board, it was claimed that the honor of chairman was due to Mr. Kalisch, and before the latter went away he had informed Mr. Hart that such would be the plan of organization, and that he (Mr. Hart) would meet with no difficulty in that matter when the board met.

When the members of the board assembled on Tuesday Mr. Hart discovered, much to his perplexity and embarrassment, that Mr. Kalisch's fences had been broken down, and it would require some skilful and aggressive work to retain the chairmanship honor for the Democracy.

As soon as Clerk Louis Lappman had administered the oath of office the board proceeded to organize. Mr. Hart nominated Mr. Kalisch and Mr. Martin nominated Mr. Guter. Three ballots were taken, Mr. Hart voting each time, casting his own and Mr. Kalisch's names for the latter. Mr. Hart maintained that as he had agreed to uphold the absent member, he was not at liberty to support any other nominee. After considering the situation, Mr. Hart secured confirmation that Mr. Kalisch would return to this country before August 20, and so declared he would stand by that member's nomination.

Mr. Martin, averring that a number of meetings would occur before that date, nominated Mr. Guter for chairman.

Mr. Martin remaining firm, after three ballots Mr. Kalisch was chosen to preside, being the oldest member of the board and hence entitled to the position by statute. Mr. Martin was elected secretary; Mr. Hart was then selected as temporary chairman, with Mr. Lappman as clerk.

"I'm sorry to oppose you," said Mr. Hart, "but the member from East Orange never surrenders."

The board's first act was to approve of a request to the Finance Committee of the Board of Freeholders asking for the granting of $100 for postage and incidentals for 1903-4. The certificate for election officers was ordered changed, to date from September 1.

Martin Bross, chief clerk of Newark's City Clerk Department, asked that the County Board arrange for the organization of district boards of election in time to carry out the provisions of the new primary law relating to the stationery and the distribution of ballots. The board agreed that the printed affidavits which the election officers are required to sign should contain the sentence, "These questions to be answered, sworn to, and returned on or before August 25. If not answered as above stated, other nominations will be called for."

Question No. 12 on the blanks, "Have you ever been convicted of any violation of the laws of the State of New Jersey or of the United States?" was objected to by Mr. Guter on the ground that it was too broad. He insisted that a person who had been convicted of corner loafing was debarred from serving, while the obvious intention was to shut out persons whose record was of a more criminal nature.

Mr. Martin upheld the clause, since, he declared, in his experience on the board, he had known objectionable people to be allowed to serve.

It was agreed that no change should be made in this clause.

It was decided that upon each certificate there shall be printed in red ink, "The different election boards are requested to organize in Newark on Saturday, September 5, at 8 P. M., and to notify the County Clerk of the election of clerks immediately," and that with each certificate sent out there shall be included a circular stating that this is made necessary because, under the law, the first registration day shall be on September 8.

Mr. Martin added that this is all the board can do, and that if the request was not complied with by the Monday following, the City Clerk would have to act. The township boards, it was agreed, are to organize as they get their certificates, which will be before September 1.

A notice of the meetings of the boards of registry and election, for publication, was approved and ordered printed in six newspapers.

Mr. Martin was given authority to have ten lists of election officers compiled.

The board agreed to meet at 3 o'clock each Tuesday afternoon.

The Amendments.

A special election will be held on September 22, when the people of this State will vote on the question of adopting certain amendments to the State Constitution. The amendments relate to the judiciary of the State, and outside of the legal fraternity are not attracting much attention. An effort has recently been made to divide the people along partisan lines with respect to the approval or disapproval of the amendments. The nature of the issue involved, however, is such that the people will not enthuse to any great extent over it. The probability is that the vote will be a light one and the amendments carried.

Prominent lawyers, for whose opinion the general public has the profoundest respect, have declared themselves in favor of the amendments and have advised their adoption. E. Q. Keasby of Newark and one of the prominent members of the Essex County bar, has made public his views in favor of the adoption of the amendments. Mr. Keasby says:

"The primary purpose of the amendments is to relieve the congestion of cases on appeal and to give us a court that can devote its attention to the hearing and prompt decision of such cases and leave the Supreme Court judges free to give their attention to the work of this court. Incidental to this there is a necessary change in the composition of the Board of Pardons; and thirdly, the vice-chancellors will be made by the constitution what they are now in effect, judges of the Court of Equity, and they will be appointed by the Governor as all other judges are.

"The changes proposed are not serious but the change in the Court of Errors, at least, is of great practical urgency. Other plans for changes in the courts have been urged for the last twenty years, and these alone have now been approved by three successive legislatures after careful consideration by the representatives of the people. No others can be voted on for the next five years whether these are defeated or adopted, and even if we think these do not go far enough we should not lose this opportunity to obtain the relief that we urgently need now.

"Objection is made on the ground of expense, but the expense is only for the pay of judges necessary to do the work. It is after all only a question of division of labor. Five judges of the new court take the place of the six judges especially appointed. They will receive salaries instead of a per diem and will cost more, but the three circuit judges now drawing large salaries can be dispensed with and the Supreme Court judges will be relieved of their duties in the Court of Errors, and if there is not work enough for all of them the number may be reduced by the Legislature. The constitution requires only three. The important thing is to have the system efficient and adequate to the needs of business. The number of the judges and the expense will depend on the work there is to do, and the people will not grudge the judges the pay for the work they have to do."

To Vote by Machine Next Fall.

Voting by machinery is to be given a trial in New Jersey this fall. The automatic balloting machines are to be bought by the State and used in eighty-one of the 1,100 election districts. Each county will be assigned as many machines as it has Assemblymen and Senators. Essex County will vote by machine in twelve districts. Four patterns of voting machines have been approved by the Commissioners appointed last year, when the use of such devices was given legislative approval, to pass upon the merits of the several makes on the market. Machines of three, if not all four, of these approved designs will be included in the eighty-one that are to be tried in the coming county elections. If the test proves, as tests have proved in other States, that balloting by mechanical means provides a method more convenient and accurate and less susceptible to corruption than paper ballots and glass ballot-boxes, it is the present policy of the administration to reduce the big State treasury surplus somewhat by purchasing enough machines to supersede ballot-boxes thereafter in all elections held in the State.

By using a few of each make of machine this fall, it is intended to give a fair test to the several designs as well as to the entire idea of machine voting. Whether any machines so far submitted can stand the test and allow the independent voter to cut and scratch his ticket as he pleases for all offices, is the prime test to which the machines are to be put.

Stationery Department.

Of all classes of work requiring skill and genius that of the engraver is possibly the most exacting. The department devoted to this branch in the store of L. S. Plaut & Co., Newark, is as well equipped as any in the country, perhaps better, for especial attention is given to all sorts of card, invitation and wedding engraving as well as embossing, stamping and die-making. The work is in the hands of a corps of competent union engravers who are masters of their respective lines. This concern makes a specialty of short order work—in fact, promptness is a characteristic of the department in question. Particular attention is also paid to stamping of stationery from your own dies and the making of new ones. The fall stationery is now arriving and a visit to this interesting section of L. S. Plaut & Co.'s store will be one of much pleasure and great profit.

Hats Off! The Flag is Passing By.

The following poem was recited by Miss Nellie Bollenbach at the annual patriotic service in the Park Avenue German Presbyterian Church, Pierson Post, G. A. R., attending. The author is an old veteran and the poem furnished for the occasion by Comrade G. W. Pancoast:

Listen! Listen!
Along the street there stealthily comes
The tramp of feet, the glint of guns,
The blare of bugles, a ruffle of drums,
A flash of color beneath the sky.
A cluster of stars in a deep blue sky.
Hats off! Hats off! Old Glory Flag is passing by

Glad sign of a nation united and strong
To guard well her people from tyranny's wrong.
Glory and Freedom, Salvation, all
Live in those colors that never fall.
All loyal hearts respond to the cry.
All reverent hearts ring cheers to the cry.
Hats off! Hats off! Our Nation's Flag is passing by

In blue, and crimson, and white it comes
O'er the boys in blue in their martial times.
O'er the men who offered life and all
That the flag might live, that it star might fall
Let grateful hearts greet the passers-by
Let a mighty shout ring out the cry
Hats off! Hats off! The Flag of the Free is passing by.

But more than the Flag of the Free go we by.
If your eye can see above the Flag of the Free,
The Flag of Christ is passing by.
For only where Christ's Flag is known
Is Freedom truly on her throne.
Glory and Freedom, Salvation, all
Live in Christ's colors that never fall
Bow the head and bend the knee.
For Him who died for you and for me
Hats off! Hats off! For floating high
Redemption's Flag is passing by.

Then listen and watch! Then listen and pray!
As the roar of the cheers comes rolling this way
Along the street see the twin flags come
With the tramping of feet and glinting of guns,
With the flourish of trumpet and ruffle of drums,
A flash of color from the sunset sky,
A cluster of stars from the deep blue sky,
A fiery cross from the sunset sky,
A blood-red cross from Calvary
Hats off! Hats off! By the high or the low
Twin Flags of the Free are passing by.

Thank God for the men who were willing to die
Like scarred veterans marching by.
That the flag might float in the nation's sky
Thank God for His Son who was willing to die
That His friends might live with Him on high
Twin Flags of the Free for you and for me
If we follow them both in heart in reality.
The one "Old Glory" with hurrah and a laugh,
The other "old rugged" with a cross for a staff,
A blood-red cross on a snow white flag
Christ's martyr blood on a snow white flag
May we follow them both to the end, you and I
As the twin martyr flags in their triumph float by

My comrades brave, may we ever see
Above the folds of the flag may see each clearly see
God's sign of a cross and the name Calvary
Bare the head and bend the knee
For Him who died for you and for me
Lift a prayer if we dare.
Lift it now if we dare.
For the flag of the men who once died for thee,
And that the Flag of the Free might continue to be.
Lift a prayer if we dare
For the Flag of the Christ who once died for thee,
And that thy soul safe in heaven forever might be.
Lift it now ere there cometh for you and for me
That terrible day that is promised shall be
When forever shall cease God's merciful cry,
And Christ's flag of Redemption shall no longer pass by
But to-day mercy's day, still God's pardoning day,
To-day let us pray while every one may,
While the twin Flags of Glory are passing our way.
'Mid the tramping of feet and glinting of guns,
'Mid the flourish of trumpet and ruffle of drums.
As we still see "Old Glory," the Flag of the Free,
May we still see the Christ Flag from the hill Calvary.
One borne from the sky; one borne from on high.
May we follow them both in faith, heart and life.
Then beyond earthly strife we shall finally see
When life's battles shall end in the great victory.
What more is in store; what word God shall say
To him that Christ loveth on that blessed crowning day.
Be it you clad in blue, be it you clad in gray,
That saluted the Christ Flag as it floated this way.
Lift the hat; bow the knee; all hearts join the cry,
And salute the Christ Flag as it now passeth by.
